Joint Session To-night to Elect Successor to the Late Auditor Hall.

L. M. NUNNALLY FAVORITE

Board of Aldermen to Meet. To Raise Revenue by License Taxation-Mrs. Bass Better

Manchester Bureau Times-Dispatch, \\
No. 1103 Hull Street, \\
Everything points to the election of Mr. M. Nunnally as the successful sspirant for the position of City Auditor of Manchester, to fill the vacancy left by the death of Mr. John W. Hall. Some of those who will vote for other candidates concede now that his are the best

Two more candidates have been men tioned, making five in all. They are Mr. Carey Jenks and Mr. Fred Robinson, both good, competent men.

The Council will meet in joint session

The Council will meet in joint session to fill the vacancy at 7:20 o'clock to-night. It will take cloven votes, or a majority of the two branches, to elect.

BOARD TO MEET.

Immediately after the meeting of the two bodies of the Council the Board of Aldermen will meet to transact regular business. The reapportionment resolution, which was laid on the table by the lower branch, will be taken up, and some debate is expected when it is put upon lis passage. It is quite-likely that the ordinance will be adopted by this body.

LICENSE TAXES.

Chairman Owen, of the Special Com-

Chairman Owen, of the Special Committee on Licenses, is now preparing a schedule of license taxes to be presented by his committee to the Finance Committee when the work of making up the budget is started.

Mr. Owen said last night that the revised figures would probably be about $2,500 more to the city than at present. This will go a long ways toward filling the hole left by the Corporation Commission when it took the taxation of the Southern Railway rolling stock away from Manchester and placed it. In Richmond.

The city attorney is now making an effort to secure a reversal of this action of the commission. The city has given the city attorney power to employ attistance to help him fight for the return of the assessment to Manchester. The pount is something about $5,000. SPECIAL COMMITTEE.

The special joint committee of the City Council met last right and adopted suitable resolutions on the death of Auditor Hall. The resolutions will be presented at the joint meeting of Council to-night.
